TENNESSEE

INFORMATIONAL AND DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

LIFE SETTLEMENT

SELLING YOUR LIFE INSURANCE POLICY

Today it is possible for you to sell your life insurance policy to someone else (a life or viatical settlement company, sometimes called a provider) for an immediate cash payment. One financial arrangement, known as a viatical settlement, is best suited for people who are living with an immediate life-threatening illness and facing tough financial choices. Another financial arrangement, known as a life settlement in Tennessee, is a transaction with an individual by which the agreement shall establish the terms under which the life settlement provider will pay compensation or anything of value, which compensation or value is less than the expected death benefit of the insurance policy or certificate, in return for the owner's assignment, transfer, sale, devise or bequest of the death benefit or ownership of all or a portion of the insurance policy or certificate of insurance to the life settlement provider.

It may not always be in your best interest to sell your life insurance policy. Before you take action, you want to be sure you understand:

- a. What future benefits you may lose.
- b. What other options may be available.

Selling your life insurance policy is a complex financial arrangement. This guide will help you make an informed decision.

We recommend that you:

1. Evaluate your needs
2. Check all your options
3. Understand how the process works
4. Know your rights
5. Check with your state insurance department

STEP 1 EVALUATE YOUR NEEDS

Before you sell your policy and give up valuable insurance protection, think about whether your need for life insurance has changed since you bought the policy. If it hasn't, selling your policy may not be the right choice. If you sell your policy now, your beneficiaries will not be paid a benefit at your death.

If you sell your policy now, remember premiums go up a lot as you grow older. You may not want to pay the higher cost to replace your coverage later.

STEP 2 CHECK ALL YOUR OPTIONS

You may be able to get the cash you need now without selling your policy. Persons with catastrophic or life-threatening illnesses or conditions may have alternatives to viatical or life settlements, including accelerated benefits offered by the issuer of the policy, loans secured by the policy and surrender of the policy for cash value

POLICY CASH VALUES

Contact your current life insurance agent or company to see if you have any cash value in your policy. Ask if you can:

1. Borrow from the cash value and still keep the insurance in force.
2. Cancel the policy for its current cash value.
3. Use the cash value as collateral to get a loan from a financial institution.

Your insurance company must tell you about your options if you ask.

ACCELERATED DEATH BENEFITS

Find out if your policy has an “accelerated death benefit”. It may be your best option.

Many life insurance policies do have an accelerated death benefit. With that benefit, policyholders who are terminally ill, affected with certain diseases or permanently confined in a nursing home can access fifty per cent or more of a policy’s death benefit while still living. An accelerated death benefit could pay you a large part of your policy’s death benefit and you could keep your policy.

A very important feature of the accelerated benefit is that when the policyholder dies, the beneficiaries get the remaining death benefit. This means that eventually one hundred per cent of the policy benefits will be paid out either to the insured or the beneficiary.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

Think about what it will mean if you do sell your policy. Check out the tax implications. Not all proceeds from a life settlement are tax-free. An owner may incur tax consequences from entering into a life settlement. Persons interested in entering into a life settlement should consult their tax advisor. Find out if creditors could claim any of the money you would get from a life settlement. The proceeds of a life settlement payable to the owner may not be exempt from the owner’s creditors, personal representatives, trustees in bankruptcy and receivers in state or federal court. Persons interested in entering into a life settlement should consult an attorney or financial advisor regarding these potential consequences. Find out if you will lose any public assistance benefits such as Medicaid or other government benefits if you accept a cash settlement for your life policy. A life settlement may affect an owner’s ability to receive supplemental social security income, public assistance and public medical services. Persons interested in entering into a life settlement should consult an attorney, financial advisor or social services agency regarding these potential consequences.

Entering into a life settlement contract may cause other rights or benefits, including conversion rights and waiver of premium benefits that may exist under the policy or certificate, to be forfeited. Assistance should be sought from a financial adviser.

Where a policy that is the subject of a life settlement contains a provision for double or additional indemnity for accidental death, or contains riders or other provisions insuring the lives of spouses, family members or anyone else other than the person with the catastrophic or life-threatening illness, the life settlement contract will affect those provisions or riders and may cause spouses, family members or others to lose the additional benefits afforded by those provisions or riders.

COMPARISON SHOP

To learn the market value of your policy, it is a good idea to contact three to five life settlement providers. Or you could use a life settlement broker who would contact several life settlement providers for you. Your financial advisor can help you decide whether to work with a life settlement provider or through a life settlement broker.

SUMMARY

Everyone's financial situation is different. A life settlement may or may not be the best approach for you. Check it out for yourself. We recommend that you ask an advisor who is qualified to review your finances to help you review your options.

STEP 3 HOW THE PROCESS WORKS

If you decide to sell your life insurance policy to a life settlement provider, you will enter into a life settlement agreement with the provider. You, the seller, agree to accept a cash payment for your policy. The amount will be less than the face amount the policy would pay upon your death. (For example, you might agree to accept a $75,000 cash payment for a $100,000 policy.)

The life settlement provider buying your policy:

1. Becomes the new owner of your policy.
2. Names the beneficiary
3. Collects the full death benefit when you die
4. Begins paying premiums on the policy, and
5. May sell your policy again.

There are four basic phases required to complete a life settlement transaction.

PHASE 1 QUALIFYING TO SELL YOUR POLICY (UNDERWRITING)

The life settlement provider will need information about you before making an offer. Usually it will take some preliminary information about you before making an offer. Usually it will take some preliminary information from you over the phone and send you this paperwork to sign:

1. A medical release form so the life settlement provider can get and review your medical records.
2. An authorization form to contact your insurance company to confirm benefit, premium and ownership of your policy.

To avoid delays, it is important that you give complete and accurate information about your medical history. If you apply with more than one life settlement provider, each will contact your doctor for medical records and your insurance company for policy information.

PHASE 2 CALCULATING THE OFFER

The life settlement provider uses the information it gets in the underwriting phase to make an offer. To develop an offer, a life settlement provider takes into account various factors including:

1. Estimated life expectancy and medical condition of the insured. Generally the shorter the life expectancy of the insured, the more the life settlement provider will offer for the policy.
2. The amount of life insurance coverage.
3. Loans or advances, if any, previously taken against the policy.
4. Amount of premiums necessary to keep the life insurance policy in force.
5. The rating of the issuing insurance company
6. Prevailing interest rates
7. State laws, if any, that require a minimum payment.

PHASE 3 CLOSING THE AGREEMENT

If you accept the offer, a closing package is forwarded to you, the seller, for approval and signature. Closing documents typically include an offer letter, a life settlement contract, and the forms the insurance company needs to transfer ownership of the policy to the life settlement provider.

The closing documents are then returned to the life settlement provider for its signature.

The life settlement provider will put the cash payment owed to you in escrow, if required, and send the signed insurance forms to the insurance company to record the change.

PHASE 4 RECEIVING THE PAYMENT

Once the insurance company notifies the life settlement provider that the changes on the life insurance policy have been recorded, the payment is released to you, the seller, usually the next business day.

In many states, you may have the right to change your mind about the settlement after you receive the money, provided you return all the money. Typically the law allows 15 days to review your settlement arrangement. In some states the life settlement company has the option to deny rescission after 15 days from the date the proceeds are placed in escrow as provided by law.

General Rules in effect in Tennessee:

- (a) A life settlement provider, life settlement broker or life settlement representative shall disclose the following information to the owner no later than the time of application:
- (1) Possible alternatives to life settlement contracts, including any accelerated death benefits offered under the owner's life insurance policy;
  - (2) Some or all of the proceeds of the life settlement may be free from federal income tax and from state franchise and income taxes, and that assistance should be sought from a professional tax advisor;
  - (3) Proceeds of the life settlement could be subject to the claims of creditors;
  - (4) Receipt of the proceeds of a life settlement may adversely effect the owner's eligibility for Medicaid or other government benefits or entitlements, and that advice should be obtained from the appropriate government agencies;
  - (5) All life settlement contracts entered into in this state shall provide the owner with an unconditional right to rescind the contract for at least thirty (30) calendar days from the date of contract or fifteen (15) days upon receipt of the life settlement proceeds, whichever is less. If the insured dies during the rescission period, the life settlement contract shall be deemed to have been rescinded, subject to repayment to the life settlement provider of all life settlement proceeds;
  - (6) Funds will be sent to the owner within two (2) business days after the life settlement provider has received the insurer or group administrator's acknowledgment that ownership of the policy or interest in the certificate has been transferred and the beneficiary has been designated pursuant to the life settlement contract, and
  - (7) Entering into a life settlement contract may cause other rights or benefits, including conversion rights and waiver of premium benefits that may exist under the policy or certificate, to be forfeited by the owner and that assistance should be sought from a financial adviser.

FEDERAL TAX LAWS

Two groups of people may receive benefits from a life or viatical settlement without owing federal income tax:

1. persons who have been diagnosed with a terminal illness and with a life expectancy of 24 months or less, and
2. certain chronically ill individuals.

If you qualify for this federal tax-free treatment, you also must use a life or viatical settlement provider that is licensed in the state where you live, or, in states where licensing is not required, that complies with the standards of the National Association of Insurance Commissioner's Viatical Settlements Model Act.

When interpreting tax laws it is best to check with your financial advisor. The viatical or life settlement broker is not giving tax advice and recommends that a tax advisor be consulted on such issues. The undersigned understands that the function of the broker is solely to secure a buyer for the life insurance policy and there are no representations or warranties about the financial status of the buyer, the legal status of the buyer or any subsequent purchaser, or of any tax consequences of the transaction. The undersigned releases and holds harmless the broker in this transaction of any claims resulting from this transaction other than intentional fraud.

I have read the above informational and disclosure statement and enter into a viatical or life settlement knowingly and voluntarily.
